New Exam Schedule in '60 New Committee Instituted

In the October 16 issue of the Greyhound appeared an article concerning the new six day exam schedule. In that article no mention was made of the effective College policy until September, 1960. This year's exam schedule will remain as it is set up in the catalog and by the Dean's office. Also explained was the idea that this new schedule will benefit those students with seven subjects by scheduling two for the Monday within the exam period, allowing a three day study period.

Attention Vice-presidents

At the Council meeting held Sept. 18 another new committee was instituted, headed by the Vice-president Pat Cullen. This will actually be a coordinating body, composed of all the class and activity vice-presidents (or their equivalents), set up to further the relationship between the Council and the various campus organizations.

Activity heads are being reminded by the Council that there is a Constitutional requirement that each activity submit a schedule and tentative plan of action to the Student Council. These are to be given to the Activity Representatives: Lou Rose; Paul Cawthorne; Ed Metzbower; Ron Sack-er.

Council Vacancy

Faced with the problem of a vacancy created by the withdrawal from school of Dave Nies, soph rep-at-large, the Council took immediate steps. Soph President Bill Iampieri was instructed to appoint a representative-pro-tempore to

Short Takes

Math Club

Under new Moderator, Mr. Frank Kammel, the Math Club hopes to publish several papers on the history, application and theory of mathematics prepared by students and faculty. A committee has been formed to write a constitution for the organization and run elections.

Insurance Plans

A committee has been formed through the Student Council and Dean's Office to consider various plans of group accident and sickness and life insurances. One plan will be approved and offered to the students. Hugh Coyle is student chairman of this committee and has received several proposals from insurance agencies already.

Fifteen Loyola Seniors In College "Who's Who"

Fifteen seniors have been accepted to represent Loyola in "Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities". This marks a 50% increase over last year's ten Loyola entries. This nation-wide honor includes listing in the organization's annual directory which is distributed among educational and commercial institutions throughout the country. Selection is made on a basis of scholastic achievement, extra-curricular participation and leadership qualities.

The students chosen are: Joseph Brocato, B.S. Physics, Editor of The Evergreen, President of the Physics Club, Dean's List Student; Paul Cawthorne, B.S. History, President of Berchmans Society, ASN, manager of swimming and cross-country, Secretary of Student Council; Patrick Cullen, B.S. Political Science, Vice President of Student Council, TKA; Hugh Coyle, B.S. Political Science, President of Athletic Association; Dominic Culotta, B.S. Pre-Med, Dean's List Student; Frank Detorie, A.B. Pre-Med, Activities Editor of The Evergreen; Thomas Dwyer, B.S. Engineering Physics, President Student Body, President of the Debating Society Past Editor of The Greyhound, Dean's List Student; Richard Keene, A.B. Pre-Med, Assoc. Ed. The Evergreen, Secretary of Student Council; Edward Metzbower, B.S. Physics, President ASN, Dean's List Student; James Molloy, B.S. Physics, Editor of The Greyhound, Past Vice-president of Physics Club, Dramatics; Joseph Notarangelo, A.B. Pre-Med, ASN, Active Sociologist, Dean's List Student; Joseph O'Hara, B.S. Engineering Physics, President of Senior Class, ASN; Michael Pelczar, A.B. Pre-Med, President of Mendel Club, ASN; Michael Plott, A.B. Pre-Med, President ASO, ASN; Raymond Short, B.S. Chemistry, Captain of Baseball Team.

Evergreen Players Present Othello On TV Nov. 6

Loyola's dramatics group "The Evergreen Players" will appear on WBAL-TV Ch. 11 at 9 A.M. next Friday November 6 in a short scene from "Othello".

Nelson Cooney in the title role, Paul Cawthorne as Iago, Edward Slawski as Cassio and Mary Lou Donnelly as Desdemona will give a preview of their November 12, 13, and 14 campus production of the Shakespearean tragedy on "What's New," a community service program.

First of Season

As the first play of the season this will be the first Shakespearean production at Loyola since the 1920's. Director Bob Dunn has included a number of Freshmen in the production, including Slawski who is one of the principals.

Production will, as usual, be at 8:30 P.M. on Thursday, Friday and Saturday in Cohn Hall. Tickets will be available at the door at $1.50 single, $2.00 couple.

Fr. Beatty Allows Extra Courses

At the October 9 meeting of the Academic Council Fr. Beatty conditionally approved the Student Council's recommendation that students in certain categories be permitted to take additional courses not required for the degree without additional tuition charges for these courses.

The conditions attached to his approval were: A) the students concerned be of high academic standing and good promise; B) the students have the approval of the Heads of the Departments influenced; C) the final decision in each case should rest with the Dean of Studies; D) the courses in question may be taken in the Day Sessions only, (either for credit or audit) with a charge for laboratory fees if any are involved.

Editorials

This and That

What to write for an editorial? The mess in Xavier Lounge? Who's Who selections? God? The Flag? Motherhood? Student apathy?

After a while it seems that nearly everything has been treated through diatribe, jeremiad or panegyric to such an extent that there remains little else to say. But the great god deadline approaches and there is a whole column for editorials to be filled.

We have often been accused of being narrow-minded, self-centered, authoritarian, didactic and heretical. Unfortunately few have ventured to put the same in writing and we have been forced to tilt with windmills and straw men.

This paper has in the past offered its space to any student who has (or thinks he has) something to say. This offer holds still. The Greyhound as a student newspaper is interested in the thoughts and feelings of the students on any and all topics and welcomes the expression of same in the form of letters to the editors.

As we have pointed out to several people on campus, The Greyhound deals with the written rather than the spoken word and the wheels turn more smoothly when requests or comments are written out.

As a starter, we would like to begin a student letter campaign for suggestions to improve the condition of Xavier Lounge. Perhaps from this can come plans to keep the new student lounge in respectable condition.

For those frightened by the prospect of walking all the way to Millbrook House to deliver said letter, there is a Greyhound mailbox at the foot of the center stairs in the Library Building.

All Hallows Day

Sunday is the Feast of All Saints. This is the only feast day most of us can hope to obtain but it is not to be belittled.

Among the "Trick or Treat", costume parties and ghost stories of Halloween, we might easily forget that the real holiday is the following day, when the Church commemorates all those who have reached their proper end by attaining heaven.

Saint Augustine's line "You have made us for yourself, Lord, and our hearts are restless until they rest in you." is always good food for thought when we become involved in the things of this world.

Certainly few of us are other Augustines or Peters and capable of the magnificent accomplishments of the early martyrs, but we all have the common destiny of heaven and should strive for it.

In the words of Leon Bloy "The only tragedy is not to be a saint." Few of us are interested in being tragic figures.

The Open Door

by Francis Moritz Guidance Director

What do you think our Placement Office should offer you in the way of services? We have a few ideas about this ourselves, and we will explain these briefly, but if you don't agree with us or feel there are additional services we should offer, by all means let us know.

We think the first and most important function of our job is to offer seniors a way of meeting potential employers as a means of obtaining a satisfactory position upon graduating from college. A popular and commonly accepted procedure is to invite employers to interview interested seniors on the campus, and this we will do. But this has its limitations because there is a large number of employers in the city whose interest in college graduates we don't know about — and they are not invited. We have found a way to reach almost 1500 employers in the general Baltimore area to invite them to let us know about employment opportunities in their companies. There will still be many we haven't reached.

In this day and age, employers expect you to know what position you want, why you want it and to be able to convince them. Well, this takes a little bit of doing, but we have something to offer that will help you to know yourself a little better — vocational aptitude tests and counseling. The more you know about yourself and job requirements, the better able you will be to direct yourself toward a few well chosen job objectives.

There may be many employers who would not prefer to interview here on our campus, but who would wish to consider you for a position. They might like to review your written application before inviting you for a personal interview at their company offices. We can help you prepare a resume and letter — in fact, we are prepared to help you plan an employment search campaign, if you wish, complete with resume photographs, covering letters and mailing service to hundreds of local employers.

Another of our functions, as we see it, is inviting the 1500 employers to list their summer jobs with us. We have already made plans to do this in the late winter and early spring.

Of course, a very important factor in our whole program is providing you with ways and means of learning about many careers and companies in which your talents may be employed. There is a wealth of material concerning these in the Library and in the Placement Office. Learn to use it.

But, next month, November 11 to be exact — Career Day will bring on campus 35 or more men, drawn from as many walks of life, who will inform you about what is required to succeed in their fields. Plan now to attend one of these meetings.

the Watchdog

In the October 16th edition of this column, it was erroneously stated that the 5c charge tacked on to toasted sandwiches was an indication of the pricing policy of the school cafeteria. The Sun regrets the error.

So that both sides of the story may be known, herein is printed a letter, verbatim, which was received in reply to this wild and obviously insane accusation. Quote.

Dear Watchdog,

Your remark in the October 16 column was a bit unfair. Prices in our cafeteria are well below what you might pay anywhere in town. Just compare them sometime.

If at anytime an extra 5c charge was made for toasted sandwiches, the additional price was charged merely to discourage the ordering of this type sandwich when the cafeteria was jammed.

I believe that the parents of students might draw an unfavorable conclusion from your remark in your column. I would ask you to explain to your many readers just how we operate, what we believe is a very fine restaurant.

Joseph Cerra

In the light of certain circumstances prevailing in the cafeteria we feel that honesty would prevent us from saying that Joe Cerra doesn't do a fine job. However, since an answer to this letter is so tempting, and since the editor, to whom Joe gave the free meal, does not write this column, let us sum up by saying that we believe that the unfavorable conclusions drawn from the remark could not in any way be comparable to the conclusions drawn from eating there each day, both with and without jamming.

To switch emphasis to other activities in the area, let us examine the spelling game offered up by the Green and Gray. Must we be forced to sprinkle our daily feasting with these obnoxious mental exercises?

fill this vacancy until a new representative can be elected. This election will take place at the same time of the election of the Freshman class officers. In the interim, Mike Cross has been appointed, sworn in, and will sit as temporary soph representative.

Frosh Chairman

On Wednesday October 21 the Freshman Governing Board met and elected Tom Iampieri as its Chairman. Tom was sworn into the Council on Oct. 23 as a non-voting rep.

Extra Courses

Father Galvin noted that even highly capable students should be reminded of the disadvantage of accumulating an excessive number of credits. These credits can create the impression that courses within a particular curriculum were not very demanding and consequently their high grades not very significant. Students should also realize that it is more profitable for them to deepen their knowledge by requesting their department chairman to guide them in independent research and study projects, the Dean said.

PR's Hold Fall Ball Tomorrow

By John Connor

Company T-15 of the National Society of Pershing Rifles will hold its Second Annual Fall Ball tomorrow night in Cohn Hall from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. with Mass immediately following in the chapel. Music for the closed affair will be furnished by the Omegas.

Company Commander Michael Spigelmire will present awards to the members of the 1959-60 pledge class. This year's class, commanded by P/R Warrant Officer Richard M. Prodey, is the largest in the history of Loyola P/Rs.

The pledges will be able to see to what heights they may rise as members of T-15 when the Trick Drill Team performs its routine at the dance. Drill Instructor Martin B. Skane will lead the drill team in an exhibition of trick marching and rifle manuals.

Scene as Glee Club rehearses for their performance at First Friday Mass. Next Friday they begin singing during the First Friday Mass at 9 A.M.

GET 'EM WHILE THEY'RE HOT!!!

Beginning Monday November 2nd, the 1959-60 basketball season books will become available, free of charge, to all day students presenting their registration cards at the athletic office in the gym.

In the past, both card and a 'small snapshot, (which was attached to the cover and used for identification purposes), were required to obtain a book, but this year, NO PICTURE WILL BE NEEDED.

Athletic Director Emil G. Reitz decided to eliminate the mug-shot requirement in order to facilitate the acquisition of the books. Spot checks, however, will be conducted at the door during the season, so bring your registration card to each game.

Each ticket entitles the bearer to one free admission; but for an extra fifty cents, one companion may accompany him into the game.

The A.A. gives you a good break on ticket prices; since normally a ticket without a book costs a dollar, and as Lefty Reitz says, "you just can't find a less expensive date."

The opener is only a month away, and Director Reitz has announced that he won't have enough books for the entire student body. The distribution will be on a first-come-first served basis, so GET 'EM NOW.

Greyhound Booters Face C.U. Today; Evergreen Site Of 3 P.M. Contest

By BOB REITER

The Catholic University soccer team invades the Evergreen campus today as Mason-Dixon league play continues. The Cardinals always boast a powerful team, and this year is no exception. The Greyhounds will be out to avenge last year's loss to the Washington school. A good student turnout is hoped for. Game time, 3 P.M.

Coach Tommy Lind's starting team will probably be made up of Don Wallenhorst in the goal, Wade Bowman and Ed Zepp, fullbacks, Jim Kennedy, Dennis Ray, and Tom Schultz at the halfbacks, and Jerry Beck, Bucky Effinger, Bill Knoche, Tom Jones, and Joe Kocieriec on the line.

Last Saturday the Hounds won their first game, defeating Georgetown 1-0. Jim Kennedy connected on a penalty shot in the third quarter to give the visiting Loyola team their only score. Freshman goalie Don Wallenhorst turned in an outstanding performance in the nets.

On Tuesday Oct. 20, the team lost a hard fought game to American U., 4-1. The Hounds outplayed the host Eagles whose scores came on apparently "fluke" plays. Jim Kennedy booted in the only goal.

The big trouble in the Hound's play this year has been their inability to score. The defense has turned in a fine job holding opponents down, but the attack has not come through. The team plays well together, but just can't seem to put the ball into the nets with any consistency.

Games during the coming week: On Tuesday, Nov. 3, Loyola travels to the Rogers Ave. Field of the University of Baltimore Bees. On Thursday, Nov. 5, The Hounds will play the Green Terrors of Western Maryland here at Evergreen. Both games will start at 3:00 P.M.

Coach Tom Lind

Harriers Oppose Catholic At Home Smith Moves Up

By LAWRENCE R. STURM

Today, at Evergreen, Loyola's Cross-country team will face one of its toughest opponents in the Cardinals from Catholic University, at 3 o'clock. Last year, Loyola's harriers eked out a 26-29 victory over Catholic U., and they are anticipating an equally tough test in this year's meet.

As usual, the Hounds will be relying on their senior one-two punch of Paul Sherman and Stack Burton. These two runners were key factors in the team's setting of the school record for consecutive dual-meet wins.

Coach Bill McElroy will also be counting on Sophomore Lew Smith, who is developing into the team's number two runner.

Freshman prospects who have shown promise in previous meets, this year, are Hank McGraw, Will Jenkins, and Mike Burton.

The Hounds will face the Shoremen from Washington College this coming Tuesday at Evergreen, at 3 o'clock.

The fact that this is Casey's fifth year managing is no reflection on his scholastic ability; for Tom was hampered by sickness and a change of course.

Baseball is not Casey's only interest. He is also the Vice-President of the Management Club, manager of the soccer team, member of the photography staff of the yearbook, and the "I want a chess club at Loyola society". In addition, he is Mac's number one assistant in the Bookstore.

Casey is one of the busiest men on campus. But his high point is the great school spirit which he displays at anytime, whether he is actively participating or not.

Tank Team Hits Water; Krapp To Captain Squad

By JACK LINDUNG

Coach Bill Klarner's swimming team hit the water Oct. 19 for the first time to try to regain their 1957-58 championship form. The natators lost to American U. by one point in the Mason-Dixon tournament last year.

Led by captain George Krapp, the team's leading scorer last season with 106 points, the returning lettermen are Seeley and Peter, Powley, Paul Karpers, Ted Herget, Robert Bavis, Vic Corbin, Mike Ennis, Joe Orlando, Jerry Preis and Jim Sydnor, a transfer student from V.P.I.

Tony Dorn, four time M-D diving champ, and backstroke Mike Karpers, who performed on the freestyle and medley relay teams were lost through graduation. The problem which Coach Klarner must solve is to find capable replacements for these two positions.

Ken Freimuth, breaststroke and butterfly, Tom Burns, diving, Neil Ames, breaststroke, Marty Pilsch, are freshmen who must fill the positions vacated. If these freshmen gracefully make the transition from scholastic swimming to the longer intercollegiate races, they could help the team almost immediately. With help in these two, the tank team, always a scrappy outfit, will be plenty of trouble for the opposition again this year.

MEET THE MANAGER

Casey, soccer & baseball

It is generally accepted that the New York Yankees is the only baseball team that is endowed with a baseball strategist by the name of Casey. This is not really "the case", however, for here at Loyola, we have our own Casey, or as he is sometimes called, Tom Gorsuch. Tom is the student manager of the Loyola baseball and soccer teams.

In most cases a student manager performs only menial services for the team, but Casey is the exception to the rule. Although a certain fellow named Reitz is usually given the credit for Loyola's baseball success, Casey is the real strategist of the team.

This will mark the fifth year that Loyola has had the managerial duties of Ol' Casey, and due to the spirit that he displays for his job, he will be sorely missed after his graduation.

Anything At All

A basketball game may be held some time in November between the Freshmen and Varsity for the benefit of the "Basketball Hall of Fame Building Fund" . . . natator coach Bill Klarner, who devised the outdoor shape-up exercises, has come up with a new twist — motion pictures to study swimming form.
